ST. PAUL

HORIZONS 2005

is Lovingly Dedicated to the Memory of

DION ARROYO

MARCH 3, 1983 - SEPTEMBER 11, 2003

Almost two years have passed since the death of Dion Arroyo, but to so many of us at St. Joseph's it still feels like only yesterday that we had the privilege of being in his company. Dion died on September 11th, 2003, when his truck collided with a light pole on Waverly Avenue. For those that did not know him, Dion was a friend to all, and a beloved brother of Delta Psi Omega. Dion had such an outgoing personality and a great sense of humor. If you ever had a problem, or if something was troubling you, all you needed was a small dose of Dion — he had the ability to make you feel better no matter how upset you were.

Many of us still have frequent thoughts of Dion, and personally not more than a day or two goes by before some amusing memory surfaces that can still cheer me up today no matter how distressed I may be. Many people come and go in life. Dion may have only been with us for a short time, but he has touched more lives than most people touch in ten lifetimes. If you find this comment to be exaggerated, I assure you it is not. If you attended Dion's funeral services, you would have seen the lines of people that packed the inside of the building, then wrapped all the way around the outside of the building. New people came and went every few minutes, but that line never shrank. Every person who attended had a story to tell about how Dion had changed their life in some way or another. Dion was there for everyone, whether he did something as simple as taking the keys from someone who contemplated driving while intoxicated, or talking someone through a complicated time in their lives. Dion was always ready and willing to do whatever he could to assist anyone in need.

We will always appreciate the time we were able to spend with Dion, and the memories left behind will forever live in our hearts. Delta Psi Omega is honored to be able to call Dion Arroyo one of our own. He was — and always will be — one of our most valued brothers. We love you Dion!

With love and respect,

A Proud Brother of Delta Psi Omega

A MESSAGE FROM THE EDITOR

June 2005

To the Graduating Class of 2005 at St. Joseph's College:

Well class, we finally made it!!! For those of you that started out in freshman seminar, it has been an extraordinarily long four-year journey. For those of you that came in midstream, it has been even longer for you. No matter how long your personal journey has been, nothing compares to the memories that we take away from St. Joseph's College. Whether or not you were involved with the college, everyone has their favorite memories. Whether it is from one of the many wonderful events held on and off campus or an inside joke that you and your friends share from one of the many educational classes. No matter who you are, where you live, or what your major, St. Joseph's College means many different things to many different people. I for one will never forget the professors who pushed me to be better than I was, the friends I have made along the way, and the many clubs that I had the privilege of contributing to.

For me, my favorite memory will be of the many professors, advisors, and staff that have guided me over a very rough four years. I will also cherish the many friends that, I am sure, are life-long. So, in remembrance of the journey we have all shared, I give you the 2004-2005 yearbook. I know that many people worked very hard on this and I hope that it helps you all to remember the good, the bad, and the wonderful. Enjoy it and good luck in any and all endeavors you pursue!!

Fondly and Forever,

Tara M. Coppola, Class of 2005
President of SJC Yearbook
2004-2005

Our adviser,
Victoria Hong.

Dear Graduates:

In the years ahead, when you pick up this yearbook and start leafing through it, I hope it will bring back many wonderful memories of the time you spent here at St. Joseph's College. Names and faces once so familiar may have faded a bit, but this book will help you to remember a very special time in your lives, and the very special people with whom you shared it.

During the past four years, the members of the Class of 2005 have done many things to enrich the life we share here at St. Joseph's. You have been generous with your time, your talent, your energy and your laughter. Both in and out of the classroom, you have made the College a better place, and you have earned our admiration, respect and gratitude. You will soon be all caught up in the excitement and wonder of the next phase of your lives, but I am sure that you will never forget the many joys you experienced while you were with us. I promise that we will never forget you!

It is our hope and prayer that the qualities noted in our mission statement...integrity, intellectual and spiritual values, social responsibility, and service...have become principles that will guide and direct you throughout your lives. I also hope and pray that the years ahead will bring all of you great success and much happiness. Be assured, even as you prepare to leave, that you are and always will be part of the St. Joseph's College family.

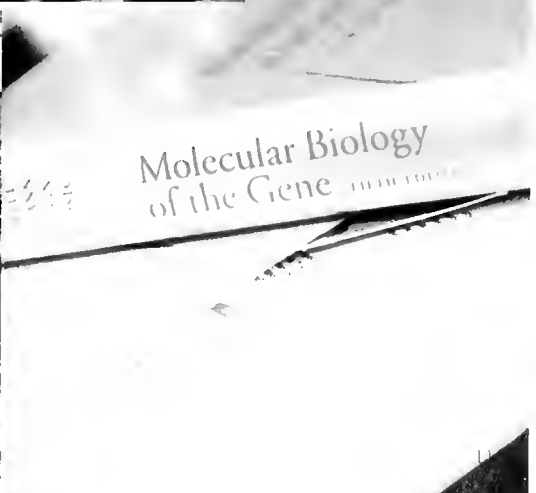

Sincerely,
Sister Elizabeth A. Hill, CSJ

Pope John Paul II, born Karol Józef Wojty (May 18, 1920 – April 2, 2005), was Pope, Prince of the Apostles and Bishop of Rome for almost 27 years, from 16 October 1978 until his death, ruling Vatican City and leading the Roman Catholic Church and Eastern Churches in communion with the Holy See. By virtue of his office, he was formally addressed by Catholics and many non-Catholics as His Holiness. He served the third longest papacy following Saint Peter and Pope Pius IX. He was the first non-Italian to serve in office since the Dutch-German Pope Adrian VI assumed the papacy in 1522. His reign experienced a rapid decline of Catholicism in industrialized nations and expansion in the third world. Pope John Paul II emphasized what he called the universal call to holiness and attempted to define the Catholic Church's role in the modern world. He was a strident supporter of Papal infallibility and opposed the concept of collegiality. He spoke out against communism, imperialism, materialism, Nazism, racism, oppression, secularism, feminism, poverty, and unrestrained capitalism. Although he was on friendly terms with many Western heads of state and leading citizens, he reserved a special opprobrium for what he believed to be the corrosive spiritual effects of modern Western consumerism and the concomitant widespread secular/hedonistic orientation of Western populations. He defined Catholic teachings on human life by opposing abortion, contraception, capital punishment, stem-cell research, human cloning, euthanasia and war. He also defended traditional teachings on marriage, sexuality, and gender roles by opposing divorce, same-sex unions and ordination of women. He opposed the full separation of church and state by calling upon Catholics to vote according to their religion. Pope John Paul II became known as the "Pilgrim Pope" for having travelled greater distances than all his predecessors have combined. According to John Paul II, the trips symbolized bridge-building efforts between nations and religions, attempting to remove divisions created through history. He allegedly canonized more people than all his predecessors combined, from many different cultures. Pope John Paul II died on 2 April 2005 after a long fight against Parkinson's disease and other illnesses. The public viewing of his body in St. Peter's Basilica drew over four million people to Vatican City and is most likely the largest single pilgrimage in the history of Christendom.

GO TEAM

The 2004-2005 St. Joseph's College Equestrian Team is made up of twelve talented riders, who range in ability from beginner to advanced, and compete in a style of riding called Hunt Seat Equitation. The team competes at a combination of local, regional and the riders work to "class out," or have to win a certain amount of points. Competing is worth a different number of points. With a total number of ten points, you can win seven points, down to fifth place, which is worth one point. When not competing in Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) shows at equestrian centers around Long Island and Connecticut, the team members work on their skills and fitness exercises in weekly lessons at Good Shepherd Farm in Yaphank, their home stable. Coach Sheila Rodgers and Assistant Coach Susan Eisenberg help instill confidence in their riders as they give them the benefit of their combined years of experience.

The goal of St. Joseph's Equestrian Team may seem the same of any other sports organization, is to win competitions. Unlike many other sports teams, however, individual members train to win ribbons in their particular class individually, in addition to helping the team place overall. For a college equestrian competition, no matter what size the team, they choose eight people to represent the school. The team can be beginner all the way up to open. At its first show at its home stable, SJC placed first overall. In its subsequent meets, it placed second and third overall.

Like most other sports teams, the members are required to wear a uniform. In this case, it is an approved helmet, riding jacket, vest, breeches, riding gloves, crop and riding boots. The catch is, though, that each individual member must buy his or her own outfit, since very few schools provide them. The cost of the outfit is high, with a pair of pretty good show boots going for $400 and up. A helmet can cost hundreds of dollars, also, which might be the reason horse showing and riding has always been known as "the sport of kings."

There are five competitions during the fall season and usually the same number in the spring season. Of course, practice is held throughout the year, and, while held outdoors, they are canceled only if the weather is particularly bad. The colleges in St. Joseph's conference include: CW Post, Dowling College, Fairfield (CT), Hofstra University, Molloy College, Nassau County Community College, Sacred Heart College (CT), SUNY Stony Brook, St. John's University and Yeshiva College. The skills that are judged are walking, trotting, cantering and jumping, but there are also some elements of the judge's look for which can make the difference between a good rider and a good one. It is more than just the horse. If interesting, the horses are drawn by a judge, so the judge can know the horses they are riding until the morning of the show. The judge is not allowed, however, because a rider is supposed to be able to handle any horse. The judge is not allowed to judge the horse.

During an interview with Coach Rodgers, she said that the St. Joseph's Equestrian Team has been in existence since 1997. She said that she has coached all of the teams, but has been an instructor for forty years. As a result, she is a very experienced and a great deal of experience to all the teams that she has coached. She said that Coach Eisenberg has taught them a spirit for St. Joseph's College. She said that she has to ride the next day and did to have fun while doing it.

Coach Rodgers said, "I enjoy working with the team. I want to be that one who can give this experience."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Student Government Association has the responsibility of overseeing all of the clubs on campus. Helping each club executive board to coordinate their activities and guiding them to be able to lead their organizations to hold successful events is a hefty task. They also have the responsibility of providing information for all students on campus helping to make their voices heard. The Student Government Association would like to thank the clubs and organizations for all their hard work and dedication throughout the year.

A MESSAGE FOR YOU

To the Class of 2005,

The SGA girls would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you and wish you the best of luck in the future. We hope that your senior year, as well as all of your years at SJC have been fun and memorable. Never forget what life was like without the BT building or the other parking lots. Be ever grateful that you as a freshman did not have to park at Mt. Carmel and look back lovingly on a time when you were up registering for classes until 4 a.m. St. Joe's has grown so much in the past 4 years, as have all of you. We hope that you have gained not only a college diploma and a wonderful education, but learned life lessons and made lasting friendships.

Love,
Steph, Christen, Heather, and Graceanne

ACCOUNTING/BUSINESS SOCIETY

Bryan Gil, President

The Accounting/Business Society exists to serve as an asset to accounting and business majors on campus, and sponsors guest speakers and forums discussing related topics. The Society co-sponsors the Career Fair, and in March, for the second time, they hosted the Brentwood High School Jazz Band performance in the auditorium. Accounting and business majors are eligible for membership in Delta Mu Delta, the business honor society.

ART CLUB

Kimberly Barcia, President

The purpose is to broaden the students' horizon in the fine arts. In October, the Art Club held the annual Pumpkin Carving Contest, which was open to all SJC clubs and students. Though first prizes were given to the overall best student and club pumpkin, everyone was a winner because all who entered got free candy!

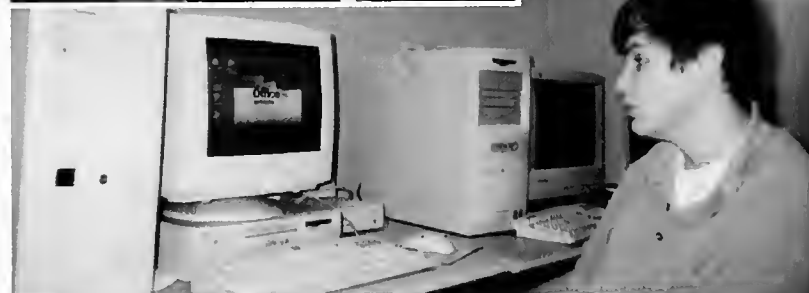

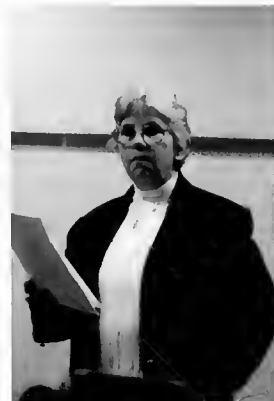

ASSOCIATION FOR COMPUTING MACHINERY

Loriann Horstman, President

The mission of St. Joseph's College student chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery is to provide an extracurricular environment to accommodate the interests of students interested in Computer Science and Computer Information Systems. The SJC student chapter of the ACM is also affiliated with an Honor Society for students in the Computing Disciplines at St. Joseph's College called Upsilon Pi Epsilon.

The Association for Computing Machinery has done a lot so far in what will be its first full year on campus. Last Spring, our members supervised the annual High School Programming Competition; helped with the Math Millionaire, a game similar to "Who Wants to be a Millionaire" but uses math questions; and participated in Spring Fling. This year we have gone above.

In just the fall semester alone we held two fundraisers, a Thanksgiving lollipop sale and our "Buy a Computer to Build a Computer" campaign. Thanks to these two fundraisers we were able to raise over $100. This money along with donations from the college community helped us to be able to completely build two computers to be donated to families during the holidays. This let us do what we do best, while being able to give back to the community. We also participated in Club Fair and Fall Fest as well as supported other club events on campus. During the first month of the Spring Semester we held a fundraiser where we sold Mardi Gras Beads the week before Mardi Gras. The proceeds from this fundraiser will go towards Tsunami relief funds. We will again be helping with the math millionaire, a Casino Night with Matrix, Resume Workshops . . . and that is just the beginning. The Upsilon Pi Epsilon computer science Honor Society is sponsored by ACM and open to students working towards a degree in the Computing and Information Disciplines who rank within the top 35% of their major. For more information about the St Josephs College student chapter of ACM, visit our web page at <http://www.geocities.com/sjcacm/> or email the officers at sjcacm@yahoo.com.

BIOLOGY CLUB

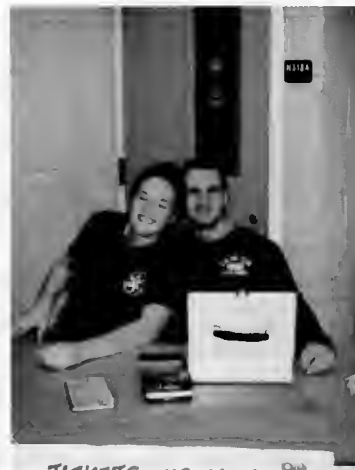

Bridget DeAngelo, President

The Biology Club is dedicated to giving students a first hand look at the modern aspects of Biological Sciences and how to apply them to everyday life. The Bio Club emphasizes a role on ensuring the well being of the school and its environment. The club sponsors field trips to various genetics laboratories and medical examiners' offices, as well as offering tutoring to all students in biology classes. This club is open to all students.

THE CLUB'S 2004-05 EVENTS

- Co-sponsored three blood drives with Student Services
- Pasta Dinner and Bingo Night for the Grace Peshkur Foundation
- Letter writing campaign which sent over 100 letters to troops in Iraq and elderly in nursing homes
- Tutoring
- Earth Day
- Guest Speakers

B.S.N. CLUB

Sue Ellen Laino, President

The B.S.N. Club involves the registered nurses enrolled in the Bachelor of Nursing Program, assisted by the club's moderator, Professor Carlstrom. The officers of the club consist of the President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer. In December 2004, the club celebrated the graduation of President Sue Ellen Laino and Vice-President Trish Nadraus, and is looking forward to electing new members to join Secretary/Treasurer Freddie King.

The B.S.N. Club meets once a month in room 322A, Professor Carlstrom's office, and has the Web site <http://faculty.sjcnj.edu/~carlstrom> to announce news, events, and links to other Web sites, as well as list the current officers and their e-mail addresses. The purpose of the B.S.N. Club is to 1.) foster the development of leadership qualities, 2.) strengthen commitment to the ideals and purposes of the profession, 3.) provide a support system for existing and new students, 4.) provide the college community services to increase health awareness, 5.) disseminate information to enrich student life, and 6.) encourage outreach to the local and global community. The club also has a bulletin and information board across from room 322A to update students about the club, upcoming events, and educational opportunities, and to post the minutes from previous meetings.

SIGMA XI EPSILON

ΣΞΕ

Joseph Pugliese, President

The Sigma Xi Epsilon Fraternity celebrated its founding during the fall 2004 semester, and became active in January, through the efforts of three founders and 10 other members of the charter class. The Alpha class, consisting of 3 men, entered in the spring. The mission of the fraternity is to embrace all positive ideas of those interested in our cause. Our goal as a fraternity is to form a common bond amongst brothers based on virtues of charity, unity, social responsibility and brotherhood. We hope to host a number of charity events. We, as a fraternity, encourage and strive for diversity on all levels: diverse nationalities and ethnic backgrounds, diverse cultures, and most of all, diverse ideas.

ZETA SIGMA PHI

ZΣΦ

Renee Michel, President

Zeta Sigma Phi strives to establish bonds of sisterhood among women of our college with common goals and interests. Together our individual hands hold the seven values and ideals of our sisterhood: Leadership, Trust, Loyalty, Dedication, Determination, Character and Friendship. Each sister is a shining star exemplifying our motto: "Friends are like stars, you may not always see them but you know they're always there."

Jessica Artura, President

Students Taking an Active Role in Society (STARS) is comprised of those students who wish to make a difference in the lives of others. STARS reaches out to instill concern for the rights and dignity of the human person, especially the poor and most vulnerable in both the local and global community. As St. Joseph's College challenges us to live a life of integrity, service, social responsibility, intellectual, and spiritual values, there is no better way to achieve this than by being a student taking an active role in society.

STARS has sponsored many events this year that challenge our responsibility to our community. On National Make a Difference Day, the third Saturday in October, STARS sponsored a "Kids Carnival" featuring crafts, games, pony rides, lunch and snacks, an obstacle course and a haunted house. We extended an invitation to over 1,000 children from our local school districts and hosted this event for free.

For the holiday season, STARS sponsored a food and gift-giving drive servicing 75 families all over Long Island. On campus, we hosted a number of events geared to bring awareness to injustices in society. Our Hunger Banquet illustrated the inequalities among the social classes due to circumstances very often out of the control of the individual. During February, African-American History Month, STARS held a Common Hour cafeteria concert featuring reggae music with a Caribbean beat, as well as participated in a number of campus events that featured members of our diverse community. This spring, STARS will be participating in "Alex's Lemonade Stand" and the Footsteps Toward Hope Ovarian Cancer Walkathon, both of which will raise funds for cancer research.

THE TALON

Brooke Tricola & Briana Raimondo, Editors

The Talon is the award-winning official newspaper of St. Joseph's College. In 2004 we celebrated our 16th anniversary! At the same time, while maintaining excellent journalistic standards, we completely re-designed the paper, bringing the Talon up to modern standards for a college publication.

After the graduation of long-time staffers Carol Kalamaras and Jennifer Torchetti in the spring of 2004, Brooke Tricola took over as editor-in-chief in September. Brooke helped to re-energize the office during the re-design stage, and the staff was overjoyed for her as she wed Mike Bove in November shortly before her graduation. At that time, Briana Raimondo served as copy editor, Joseph Macellaro as layout editor, and Christina D'Eletto as sports editor, in addition to several staff writers and photographers.

In the spring semester, Briana claimed Brooke's desk as her own. Christina moved up to the position of copy editor, and staff member Krystal Schweimler assumed the role of entertainment editor. Joey kept his layout position. The Winter 2005 issue was a special Literary Edition with poems, stories, photos, and artwork from students and staff.

The Talon is here to stay . . . so stop back sometime and pick up a copy!

This special 25th-anniversary edition of Horizons would not have been possible without the help of a countless number of people, in every department of St. Joseph's College. For the last four graduating classes, the Patchogue campus did not publish a yearbook, and the College knew this just was not right. The students whose names you see above, as well as Professor Hong, Matt Stucchio, Marian Russo and her Student Services associates, and many, many other students and staff people, have spent much time over the last two years dusting off the old yearbook supplies, moving back into the old office, getting the cameras out, and getting back to work.

This effort would not be possible, however, if it were not for Sister Joan Ryan, Research Librarian, and Anna Bess Robinson, Director of Counseling and Career Services, whose gentle prodding persuaded Joey to get some people together to get something good accomplished for their school. Horizons 2005 has truly been a labor of love.

We hope you enjoy this book and keep it close to you in the coming years. We know it's not perfect . . . this is something new to all of us! . . . but we tried. Thank you, and good luck to you, the Class of 2005.

The Yearbook Club was founded in room N307 back in February 2004. That room soon became the new Academic Center, so meetings moved to N309 in the fall 2004 semester. After that we moved back into our old room, N224.

TESTAMENT

Sarah, what should I leave you is all the trips to RHD, spending the money neither of us had and still don't have. Nights at Riverside and of course the always fun Saturday mornings. Pushing me and listening to me complain about every teacher and homework assignment. And of course making sense out of everything.

Jessica, well let us see, for a little sister you are a very interesting person. Continue on with your life with your creative ways and strange habits. I wouldn't leave you any part of this school, because it wouldn't mean anything. Thank you for listening to me complain, or at least pretending to listen. Rides to dance were always fun and at time odd, going to dance next year will not be the same. There will be nobody to chat with while the others talk about whatever it is they talk about. Good luck in college & make your experience better than mine.

Erica, wow we made it through another four years of school. How many more to go? It seems like it is never ending, but it will all be worth it in the end. Good luck with everything you do. Classes, dance club, trips to the bank.

To everyone else I have talked to and complained with about professors and classes. Good luck with whatever you end up doing and wherever the road takes you.

Good luck and Congratulations to the class of 2005. I know I have not left behind much, but I feel as if I do not have much to leave. Or maybe I leave behind everything and am glad to be moving on. I take with me all of my memories of my friends and the teaching experiences I had. It was an interesting four years that will never be forgotten. To anyone who thought I wouldn't make it, here I am in 2005, graduating with the class I started with and with the diploma I wanted and worked so hard to get.
